No hospital for city but attempt ignites dispute

By JEFF BROWN

SOUTH BAY - A proposed Veteran's Administration hospital won't be built in South Bay, but the document compiled by a consultant from the coast as part of an attempt to attract the hospital to the area has sparked another controversy in South Bay between at least two city commissioners and the city manager.

Mayor Donald Tanner told the city commissioners at Tuesday night's meeting, November 15 that the Veteran's Administration had already eliminated South Bay from consideration for the hospital.

The city had attempted to attract the hospital with a document intended to highlight the assets of South Bay. That document was developed by Bonita Gooch, a consultant from Riviera Beach.

She had apparently made the document

Plant improvement approved

SOUTH BAY - South Bay water users should soon be drinking better tasting water as the result of a new system to be installed in the water plant's ozonation system.

Jeff Renault of the engineering firm of Barker, Osha and Anderson told the South Bay city commission Tuesday evening, November 15 that the new unit, a pre-cooling system and its controls priced at $5,832.43, will improve the quality of the water from the plant by enabling the ozone unit to work properly.

According to City Manager Lomax Harrelle, the ozone system hasn't been operating because of problems derived from not having the pre-cooling system.

Renault said the pre-cooling unit wasn't included in the plant originally because without the commission's formal approval and is now asking for $540 for her work.

The commission voted to table the matter until

Vice Mayor Vernita Cox could be in attendance, but commissioner Rennie Morris used the spot on the agenda to voice his objections to the way details of the issue were made public.

Morris asked if it was appropriate for City Manager Max Harrelle to release the details before bringing the matter before the commissioners.

Harrelle told Morris that the morning after his meeting with Gooch, he received a telephone call from a reporter asking how much Gooch was requesting for the document.

Harrelle said he felt obliged to answer the question.

"I don't believe anything should have been released to the press before it was brought before the commission," said Morris. "A lot of people were really upset about the information they saw in the press about this. It all stemmed from the information you (Harrelle) gave them, and I hold you fully responsible as city manager."

GGH opposes proposal to decrease bed allocation

A proposal under consideration by the District Health Council that would increase the number of beds in the obstetrics ward at Everglades Memorial Hospital has raised objections from the staff at Glades General Hospital which claims the plan would decrease the number of beds at the Belle Glade hospital's obstetrics ward.

The council, which guides the health care industry in Palm Beach, Okeechobee, Indian River and St. Lucie counties, is considering a request by Everglades Memorial to increase its obstetrics ward from the current nine beds to 18 beds.

Apparently, part of the council's proposal would remove nine beds from the Glades General obstetrics ward.

That part of the proposal resulted in Glades General Administrator Patrick Lennon presenting objections to the council at a public hearing in Tequesta Wednesday, November 9.

Lennon apparently told the council that he had no objections to Everglades Memorial's request to expand its obstetrical services, but that he felt the additional beds should come from a new allocation by the council.

"It would be impossible for us to give them (nine beds) up because we don't have them," Lennon said.

The hospital was allocated 15 beds for its obstetrical ward, but the allocation stated the beds could be used in other parts of the hospital if they were needed more elsewhere.

The allocated beds had been converted for use by medical-surgical patients.

"It would also be impossible for Glades General to give up any of the remaining six beds since they will be needed for the complicated and high risk deliveries from the birthing center which has already been approved."

Frank Steinberger, the administrator at Everglades Memorial Hospital, said the Pahokee hospital's request for nine additional beds wasn't connected with the council's proposal to take nine beds from the Belle Glade hospital.

"I'd like to have it understood that our getting nine beds has nothing to do with them (Glades General) getting nine beds taken away," said Steinberger.

"We're trying to get nine beds for ourselves, not have nine taken away from them. That's not our approach at all."

Steinberger added that he understood Lennon's attempt to keep the beds with the birthing center expected to expand operations at Glades General.

"I can see Mr. Lennon's point. I can sympathize with School kicks off education week

By BRENDA BUNTING

BELLE GLADE - Proclamation signing and flag ceremonies were only the start of the celebration to kick off National Education Week at Lake Shore Middle School last Monday.

Mayor Thomas L. Altman and local National Guard Army members participated in the opening week ceremonies.

Monday was also Faculty Education Day. Teachers at Lake Shore celebrated the occasion by posting banners on homeroom doors identifying students where they attended college.

Each teacher was given the opportunity to relate to the students details of their own higher education.

Principal Ed Foley spoke along with Margaret Gross, science department chairman and Barbara Case, assistant principal for administration, to a group of eighth grade students about their education.

Foley told the students that originally he hadn't planned to attend college at all. He said that when he was in high school in Massachusetts his father was making $38 a week.

He said it was "more of a time for the rich to go to college." He told the eighth graders that later his wife suggested he attend college. "I was a little reluctant," he said.

Foley said he attended Boston University and graduated with a major in physical education and a related minor in science and a pre-minor in social studies.

"They were only paying about $2,450 for teachers at that time," he said, "so I became a police officer."

He said he taught science, physical education and world history at Cardinal Newman High School for a while and then worked in a nursing home for a while because the pay was so much higher.

He told the students that eventually he moved south and took a position as the manager at the Breakers Beach and Golf Club in West Palm Beach.

"But, you know, I found I missed kids, watching them grow and working with them," Foley said. "So I went back to college."

He attended Florida Atlantic University and received his master's degree in supervision and administration.

He told the students that education is where he wants to be, and that higher education was hard work.

"Nobody is going to give it to you. You earn your way and you pay your dues."

Other activities at Lake Shore Middle included air time on WSWN radio for students and advertising copy designed by students to run in this week's issue of the Herald-Observer.

Local stores and banks also became involved this week by displaying posters created by students to illustrate the week long theme.

Friday, students will become faculty for the

Three more die on US 27

A two-vehicle accident on U.S. 27 Tuesday evening claimed the lives of three people, according to Florida Highway Patrol reports.

According to the report, an automobile traveling north and occupied by three individuals veered into the path of a southbound tractor-trailer about 25 miles south of South Bay at about 6:40 p.m. November 15.

The three occupants of the automobile were killed in the collision and their names weren't released pending notification of next of kin.

The tractor-and-trailer was driven and occupied by two Hallandale residents.

HONORED by the Glades substation of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office were, from left, Detective Paul Copeland, detective of the year; Lou Ann Austin, civilian employee of the year and John Russ, patrol officer of the year.

Sheriff's office honors 3 employees

Three employees at the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department Glades sub-station, one a civilian and the other two officers, are the recipients of the substation's employee of the year awards.

Detective Paul Copeland was selected the Detective of the Year by his supervisors and substation commander.

Deputy John Russ was named Patrol Deputy of the Year and Lou Ann Austin was honored as the Civilian Employee of the Year.

According to a release by Major C. Frank Fogleman, the division commander, Copeland has been directly responsible for the recovery of over $1,500,000 in stolen property during 1983. Most of the property was returned to the agriculture community.

He also orchestrated an investigation that resulted in the recovery of 30 stolen automobiles from the Palm Beach County and Dade County area. Five individuals were arrested in connection with that investigation, according to Fogleman.

He has also cultivated investigative information from the patrol division for the purpose of documenting and cataloging it for distribution among local law enforcement agencies and other

The difference of truly meeting Christ

Everglades Presbyterian Church

There was a song some years back, "What a Difference a Day Makes." What a difference a true meeting with Christ would make in our lives! The writer of the Book of Revelation, who by tradition is John, the beloved disciple, had the most unusual experience of seeing Jesus Christ during his earthly ministry and in a heavenly vision in all the glory that is to be his. Through the eyes of John we see what came to pass in God's time (future fulfillment).

All we are trying to say is that the Revelation of John gives us a preview of the possibilities of the Kingdom of God both here and the future life. The condition of this life is our meeting face to face with Christ. This is not proposing a Damascus road experience such as the Apostle Paul underwent for everyone, yet, the meeting with Christ is the prerequisite for the change.

The Holy Spirit brought the Prodigal Son to his senses but the love of God did not come through to him until he had felt the arms of the waiting father. Perhaps we pray as Augustine prayed, "Lord save me, but not just now!" We may try to put off the face-to-face meeting with Christ but the conversion of our lives comes at this time. Kingdom, worship and service are one! Our reaction is adoration. Becoming aware of His greatness and dramatic and historic meetings taking place in the last two centuries was that of Stanley and Livingston in the heart of darkest Africa. Yet, this meeting suffers by comparison with that of one coming out on the broad expanse of life and seeing Jesus Christ—the Lamb of God, before you. You are alone, stripped of the crowd (lonely may it be) and there you see the symbol of innocence and gentleness. At the same time, you see the strength which overcame the cross in the Resurrection. In the lamb we see both the sacrifices and the victory of God.

In the change we begin to see the possibilities of life; we had been existing — now we live. Let us look at this life through the eyes of John in his last chapter (22). The first response we make upon meeting Christ is to worship. (In the Kingdom, worship and service are one!) Our reaction is adoration. Becoming aware of His greatness and sovereignty we adore God. We stand in awe of the majesty of God and our hearts cry out to sing praises to glory of the Lord. Almost simultaneous with the adoring love, which the presence of God evokes, we are overcome by the extreme sense of our unworthiness. "Woe is me, for I am undone" (Isaiah 6:5a), comes from our lips. Man must repent (confess) because his sinfulness is so apparent. In this situation the proud and arrogant swiftly kneels. Shaking and trembling we feel the hand lifting, guiding us to our feet. We are ready for service; "Here am I, send me" (Isaiah 6:8b).

Now that we are in His service we bear His name. John says we will have his name on our foreheads. The time of marking has not come to us as yet for there are not CHIRHO's branded on us. Yet, if the mark of Christ is not on our hearts we are lost. Paul says walk worthily of the Lord. (Col. 1:10). We could say today we need the cross or a symbol of Christ to remind us that we bear His name. In the life to come our failures will be eliminated and our temptations overcome.

The final result of our meeting will be that darkness is done away. The light of the world has come. This means truth will be supreme. Truth is almost forgotten and no experts; we cannot believe our government (without photographs, our children (without affidavits), or friends (without contracts). The light will give us the truth necessary for salvation. Jesus Christ is the light who comes to light the life of every man.

The confrontation by Jesus Christ gives us the faith for life. We are willing to take what Kierkegaard calls the 'leap of faith.' We must have the trust of little children. My youngest child, Julia, aged two and one half years, will climb to the top of the tangle tower (a maze of pipes for exercise) and will jump off in any adult or older child's arms without hesitation. Opinion

Why not allocate new beds for EMH

Everglades Memorial Hospital in Pahokee is seeking nine new beds for its obstetrics ward and the District Nine Health Council apparently wants to give the hospital nine beds that are currently part of Glades General Hospital's allocation in Belle Glade.

The latter part of the proposal, the one that would take nine beds from the Belle Glade hospital, understandably has Patrick Lennon, Glades General's administrator, upset.

Frank Steinberger, the administrator at Everglades Memorial Hospital, said his hospital is seeking nine beds, not necessarily nine beds from Glades General, and he can sympathize with Lennon.

We don't dispute Everglades Memorial's need for more beds. According to Steinberger, the hospital frequently operates at 160 percent capacity in the obstetrics ward.

More beds are needed there and more should be placed there soon.

We don't think the council is handling the situation properly if it is going to attempt to take nine beds from the Belle Glade hospital to put them at the Pahokee facility.

The birthing center at Glades General will be expanded in the near future and an already growing obstetrics ward will be busier and bigger in the future.

It will need the nine beds in the future even if it isn't making full use of them now.

The council is supposed to control the health care industry and hospitals in the district and insure they aren't growing beyond their area's needs.

We think it is obvious that nine new beds are needed for Everglades Memorial. A new allocation should be made for those beds. They shouldn't be transferred from Glades General, which will soon be needing those beds every bit as much as another facility.

An allocation of nine new beds to Everglades Memorial would solve the problem. Glades General would still have its beds for the near future and Everglades Memorial would be able to expand its obstetrics operations to the realities it is faced with.

We urge the council to take that course and allocate Everglades Memorial new beds.

Will someone let Pluto in

Ailsa Dewing

"And What Not"

To the stars through difficulties just isn't working out these days and I think maybe Pluto is involved.

Not Pluto who hangs out at Disney World. The other one. The planet.

What I'm getting at is that we need a new zodiac sky map. The one we have was issued by the Chaldeans, I think. Anyway, they were the prime time stargazers and back in those days they weren't playing with a full deck. All of this galaxy's planets hadn't come to light — and that includes Pluto.

I've always been one to think that if my cosmic ducks were all in a row it would be a zippety doo dah day. That meant that Saturn shouldn't be ascending at the same time the moon's in its sixth house, whatever that means. To tell the truth, I don't keep track of the various highs, lows and pressure zones, myself. I leave that up to the wizards in their funny hats who stay in touch with the daily papers.

But looking back on my last year's horoscope I'm somewhat dismayed. I find I spent 227 hours waiting by the telephone for a long lost friend to call or a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to ring my bell. Neither of them phoned. They didn't even write.

Six times I was warned to keep away from moving machinery. I locked the door on the vacuum cleaner and threw a blanket over the sewing machine so it couldn't see to attack me (through the eye of its needle, of course). On the days I was told to "rest and take it easy" everybody else was on one of those "start early and accomplish much" days. I got more threats of bodily injury from getting in their way than I ever had from moving machinery.

And I'm always suspicious when my horoscope tells me to have faith in myself. According to my zodiac sign, I'm impulsive, stubborn and impatient. That hardly sounds as though I were the best person to depend on.

One day when I really needed an advance forecast, I tried burning the entrails of a fowl at dawn. That brought me a prophecy. A forewarning from a neighbor of what would happen if I tried that again.

Anyway, I've come to the conclusion that Pluto probably has an influence on some of our lives and isn't being taken into account because he escaped the notice of the early soothsayers. But it's not too late for our contemporary wizards to say some new sooths and let us know what Pluto is up to in our lives. Maybe something like: "The times are propitious for earth sign people. Venus is rising, the moon is blue and Pluto is in the doghouse."

A lesson in civics

A couple weeks ago, we said we thought some local city officials should be given free civic lessons so they learned how to do things the proper and legal way.

So, South Bay city commissioners, step right up and we'll start class.

It seems some of you have a problem with the city manager releasing information to the press. Well, there is such a thing as the Sunshine Law which precludes conducting any business behind closed doors.

City business is public business and the public, and the press as its agent, has the right to information.

Your city manager did the only thing he could when asked for information. He released it.

We could see your objections if he was trying to force your hand by expressing opinions through the press. But he didn't do that. He merely released the facts.

In that respect, he acted properly.

In another matter, one of you this week asked the city attorney to express his opinions during commission discussions.

That is not his role. The city attorney from every city we know of will tell you that he or she is there to give legal guidance and to help the city avoid blundering into a lawsuit or other legal problem.

Your city attorney was absolutely right when he said he tries to refrain from expressing an opinion on policy during the commission discussions.

Policy discussions give the commissioners and citizens a chance to air their views on the problem at hand.

You are the elected officials and must make the decision.

The city manager may make a recommendation based on the administration of any given issue, and the attorney on the legal ramifications, but you and you alone must decide what your policy is.

Few of us know anything about turkeys, other than that they taste good.

We go through life and never have the opportunity to meet one up close and personal. By this I mean stand toe to toe with one without a fence in between.

If you are one of those folks, don't feel slighted. Feel lucky. Let me tell you why.

The other day I visited a friend who has a small farm complete with goats, ducks, chickens, rabbits, a cow or two, and a bunch of turkeys.

He invited me up to the barn at feeding time. All went well until the turkeys saw me. The two biggest ones marched right over and began to circle, letting me know that I was the intruder in their world.

They meant business. They were puffed up and making hissing noises. Hadn't I heard somewhere that turkeys are dumb and ill-tempered? I felt I might be attacked at any moment.

"Steady there guys," I said as I searched through my vast knowledge of animal behavior for a way out.

Have you ever noticed how your friends think nothing amiss when their 150 pound German shepherd has knocked you on your back and is eating you alive. The dog is just showing you his affection, right?

Well, I felt like that as these two turkeys moved in for the kill. My friend seemed oblivious to my discomfort. He just laughed and asked if I didn't think his turkeys were wonderful. They are just simply majestic," he said.

All I could see was the battle plumage on his prize gobbler and an unmistakable gleam in his eye that spelled trouble.

How ugly the creature looked with that silly red comb drooping from his head. And they kept making a crazed gobbling noise everytime something excited them.

Why hasn't someone made a horror movie about the berserk giant turkeys, I wondered.

I didn't want to be a bad guest, but if that bird attacked, I decided I would let him have it right in the buttocks.

I was spared this drastic action when something diverted the turkey's attention for a few seconds. I gracefully withdrew — ran as fast I could — to the gate, where I could admire the prize birds from afar.

It proved to be a food solution. I wouldn't have to kick my friend's turkeys or stand there and let them peck at me.

I'll get my revenge about the 24th of this month, when Thanksgiving rolls around. I'm also looking forward to Christmas. We may even have turkey for New Years.

Questions cable tv improvements

Editor:

I am writing you this letter in hope you will be able to print it in the newspaper. If you can I will really appreciate it.

I am sure hundreds of other people are like me and having trouble getting Sunbelt Cable Television to fix their cable. My cable has been off for more in the last six months than it has been on and it was not because I didn't pay my bill.

The people at Sunbelt just don't respond to our calls and I mean I have called many times. They are always talking about improving the system but there is never anything done.

I am asking the people that are served by Sunbelt to send them a registered letter saying they are not gonna pay their cable bills until the cable is fixed and fixed right.

I am sure if people will do this and keep their promise, Sunbelt Cable TV will start making the repairs that are needed. I appreciate your time.

Thank you.

DOT doesn't like editorial

Editor:

We recently received a copy of an editorial, "DOT arrogance could result in fatalities," published on page 4A of the September 8, 1983 Herald-Observer. This editorial discusses the need for a left-turn lane on U.S. 27, north of the Florida East Coast Railway, to access a subdivision. The article also purports to present a Florida Department of Transportation decision not to address the issue. We were surprised to read this editorial and would like to dispute its facts and opinions.

South Bay Chief-of-Police Charles R. Forrest advised us of this problem in July, 1982. James Griewisch, of this office, met with him in August, 1982 and performed a preliminary investigation. In October, 1982, we notified Chief Forrest that, although the accident history of the location does not indicate a problem, we consider that there is an accident potential. We informed Chief Forrest that we would construct a left-turn storage lane for access to Northwest Third Street, and sent him a copy of our project proposal.

Our normal policy is to place new projects at the end of our Works Program, which would have been fiscal year 1985-86. We considered this project to be a rush job and found available funds in our 1983-84 budget. This project is still on schedule and should be "let" in June, 1984, for construction in the summer of 1984. The project scope has been expanded to also include a median opening and left-turn storage at Northwest Fourth Street.

We believe that the Florida Department of Transportation has been responsive to this issue. It is with some surprise that we read your editorial, which represented the Florida Department of Transportation as being unwilling to even investigate the situation. Your editorial contains the phrases "The public be damned," "boys and girls at DOT," and "Add to DOT officials' already crimson-stained hands not just the blood of innocent victims of bureaucratic arrogance, but the blood of innocent children." None of these phrases seem to apply to the circumstances of this issue. Your article is based on incorrect and unsubstantiated hearsay information. Although the statement of opinions is expected on an editorial page, your inflammatory attack on the Florida Department of Transportation is certainly not warranted by the facts of the case. This article is an injustice to the Florida Department of Transportation.

He and commissioner Willie Marshall said they were waiting for a report from Harrelle on the matter, but the first word they received on the matter came through the press.

"When we got it, it really seemed like a disgrace, the way the papers fixed it up," said Marshall.

"Do you think you did the right thing?" Morris asked Harrelle.

"Yes, I do," responded Harrelle.

"You may say that I'm taking up for the city manager, but, yes, I am taking up for him," said Tanner. "He answered the question the only way he could."

Tanner said the way he read the newspaper accounts of the Gooch report, he thought the articles reported the answer to the question, how much was Gooch asking for the document, and then proceeded with the details of the report itself.

"The press opened my eyes to what was in the report," said Tanner, adding that the report was "very erroneous" because it failed to mention the three biggest employers in the area and several public schools, among other facts.

Marshall and Morris said those omissions weren't "that great."

"There is room for improvement," said Morris but added the report could have been corrected and improved before it was adopted and used.

"The way I took it, that report was what was sent. That report was intended to be sent to any business (considering locating in the city)," said Tanner.

Harrelle added the report was already mailed at the time Gooch brought it before the commission two weeks earlier.

Tanner said the report was brought to the commission at the meeting with the attitude that time was of the essence, but that Gooch herself said things didn't seem promising.

"According to what she told us that night, she did talk with one of the hierarchy with the Veteran's Administration and she was told 'no way.' So why pursue the issue?" asked Tanner.

Morris said Tanner was acting "simple and childish" on the matter and asked him "Do you believe it was at all worth while trying to bring engineers didn't think air temperatures would be high enough to warrant it. The city saved about $87,000 by excluding it, according to Harrelle.

The air temperature is critical in the development of the cone used as part of the final polishing step in drinking water production, said Remault.

The installation of the equipment will eliminate the chlorine taste of the water, he said.

The commission approved the expenditure.

such a thing to South Bay?"

"Certainly," responded Tanner.

Morris then said that he didn't think Tanner had given the issue his full support.

Marshall said many citizens had called him and expressed concern over how the city was spending its money after the newspaper accounts were published, so he made a motion that everything the city owns bear the city seal "so the citizens know what they own."

That motion received a 2-2 vote and Marshall asked that it be put on the agenda for the next meeting.

that," he said.

The birthing center is expected to move into a new facility in the hospital's Memorial Wing next year.

It has been operating on a smaller scale at Glades General Hospital since late 1982. Lennon said that since then, births at Glades General increased from 47 in 1982 to more than 200 in the first 10 months of this year.

"It should be obvious to everyone that in increase of this magnitude, with funding (for the center's Memorial Wing expansion) finally being approved only 90 days ago, that the program has been an outstanding success and that the real impact will be felt in 1984 and 1985," said Lennon.

"It would not make sense to have all levels of government in the certificate of need process to agree to the need for the program, and when it has just started to produce the desired impact, provide obstacles that will prevent it from achieving its full potential."

He also told the council that other hospitals were given the opportunity two years ago to provide all of the obstetrical services in the Glades and they all declined the offer.

"It was clear that there was a need and the Florida Community Health Centers and Glades General Hospital began a program which is just beginning to show signs of alleviating the situation," he said. "If the work planning is to have any meaning in health planning, then give the plan an opportunity to work."

Steinberger said Everglades Memorial wants to expand its obstetrical ward because in the past, there have been months when it was carrying 160 percent of its capacity.

It has nine beds in the ward plus 10 bassinets. It is seeking 10 additional bassinets in addition to the nine extra beds.

HUD asks PHA to revise policies, leases, late charges

PAHOKEE — Pahokee Housing Authority officials are working on revisions to its lease and policies at the request of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The revisions are needed because the authority's current policies and lease agreement are outdated and have to be brought up to HUD's current standards, according to PHA Executive Director Randall J. Mills.

The revisions may affect the tenant consideration formula. The authority currently considers potential tenants on a scale of about 15 different criteria. Those criteria will be reduced to five: bedroom size, rent range, dislacements, veterans and date the application was received, according to Mills.

HUD's recommendations may also force the authority to institute late charges on rents paid late.

According to Mills, many tenants pay their rents near the end of the month instead of the first of the month when the rent is due.

The late charges HUD is seeking the authority to apply would be added to the rent after the fifth of the month and would probably total about $10, according to Mills.

Most of the changes the department is seeking in the lease agreement and authority's policies are in the wording, according to Mills.

He added the department is revising its standard lease now but that department officials suggested the authority revise its lease and HUD would supply it provide it with any proposed changes at a later date.

The authority is preparing its revisions now. Mills said at the November 15 meeting of the authority's board of commissioners.

specialized units through the state who have the responsibility of agricultural crimes. Copeland joined the Sheriff's office in September 1976 as a member of the road patrol. He was promoted to Agricultural Detective at the substation. He was transferred to the department's personnel and training division for about one and a half years before returning to Belle Glade in September 1982.

"Detective Copeland still retains his motivation, energy and dedication to duty and public after 20 years of police service," stated Fogleman. "He constantly works excessive uncompensated time when an investigation requires a continuous pursuit of investigative leads and suspects. He has been able to establish a rapport with the community in Belle Glade which has generated information leading to the successful conclusion of criminal cases. It should be noted that Detective Copeland has always given credit to individuals and agencies that assist him in his investigations."

Russ, a 16-month employee, has "pleasantly surprised his supervisors and co-workers by demonstrating a tenacious interest in his work which has often resulted in John volunteering many hours of his personal time to assist in ongoing investigations, search and rescue operations, and Organized Crime Bureau undercover work dealing with drugs and gambling in the Glades area," stated Fogleman.

Russ has also produced informants that have assisted the detective bureau investigators in major crime incidences.

"John's investigative aggressiveness has been demonstrated on a daily basis in his superior report writing, his collecting of information and his obvious awareness of the overall goals and objectives on not only the Belle Glade sub, but the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office as a whole," stated Fogleman. "He has strived to represent this office as a dedicated professional employee and routinely receives positive remarks and compliments from the public and his peers."

Austin had the responsibility of co-ordinating vacations, days off, sick time and special training of all persons assigned to the radio room.

"I must say that she has done this in an exceptional and outstanding manner from the very first day of her appointment as co-ordinator and is still continuing to do an outstanding and exceptional job," said Fogleman.

Austin has specialized training in teletype work and in the EDP section. She has trained the dispatchers to assist in input of reports within the EDP section when they aren't busy.

"This undertaking has proven to be a great asset in keeping the substation's reports in a non-delinquent status most of the time," said Fogleman.

Austin, a resident of the South Bay area since 1951 and a 1955 graduate of Belle Glade High School, was stricken with polio in October 1952 at the age of 15.

"This has confined her to a wheelchair since that date, but it has certainly in no way handicapped her abilities and efforts and her initiative to do an outstanding job for the Palm Beach County Sheriff's office," Fogleman stated.

She started work with the Sheriff's office in March 1959. She was grandfathered in to police standards in June 1967 and was promoted to communication co-ordinator October 1, 1981.

All three of the substation's award recipients were runners up in the county-wide awards voting, according to Fogleman.

bureaucrats. The Florida Department of Transportation is deeply committed to providing the citizens of Florida with the safest and most efficient roadway system possible, given our funding constraints and manpower limitations.

We encourage comments regarding state roadways from both local government and the public. It is our policy to investigate fully each request, and to act as expeditiously as possible when a problem is identified.

Much of your editorial was rhetorically addressed to the Florida Department of Transportation. In the future, you might be better advised to contact us directly. We have a public information officer who would be pleased to help you obtain more accurate information about our activities.

A COWBOY BALL CARRIER is brought down by the Blue Devils.

SEVERAL MARCHING UNITS participated in the Pahokee High School homecoming parade last Friday afternoon.

PHS bedevils Cowboys for 24-6 victory

By JEFF BROWN

PAHOKEE — If a few spectators think Pahokee could have run up the score a little bit more than it did against LaBelle last Friday, Blue Devil Coach Amos Turner won't say anything to convince them otherwise.

Turner said he was impressed with the LaBelle football team. I never met a team of young men as well mannered and the coach was also very well mannered," said Turner. "I didn't wanna run the score up. I think the players did. They wanted to put the ball up and score."

The Blue Devils had to settle for a 24-6 victory, their third straight victory after starting the season 1-5. A victory against Santaluces Friday night would give the Blue Devils a 5-5 record and four consecutive victories to carry into the 1984 season.

The Blue Devils started the game with two touchdowns and two two-point conversions in their first two possessions. The 16-point lead they built in the first period would be enough to insure them of the victory.

Donald Edward scored the first Blue Devil touchdown when he connected with a 49-yard option pass from Parnelle McKellon.

The Blue Devils used a formation Turner called the "blue set" to score the two-point conversion.

The Blue Devils lined up to one side of the center and shifted to the other.

Anthony Smith connected with Centill Daley for the conversion.

According to Turner, the Devils have been using the "blue set" all year and, so far, no team has been able to effectively defend against it. It gives the team three options: pass, run or kick.

In this case, the Blue Devils opted for the pass after confusing the Cowboy defense.

After Richard Lyndale ran the ball in from the 15-yard line, Paul Buxton carried the ball in for the two-point conversion and a 16-0 Blue Devil lead.

The Cowboys got on the board in the second period when Kelly Borden intercepted a Blue Devil pass and ran it back 48 yards.

The kick failed and the Pahokee lead closed to 10 points.

The Blue Devils scored eight more in the third period.

Andrew Berry hit Demetrius Brown with a 15-yard touchdown pass and McKellon ran the ball in for the two-point conversion.

The game marked Pahokee's 1983 homecoming with a victory. Turner said that even with it being homecoming, he had a rough time getting the team prepared for the game.

"Anytime you can win your homecoming game, that was our motivation factor," said Turner. "But I still had trouble getting the team up for the game. Cause they read the papers too and they know that they (LaBelle) was oh and eight. But we used homecoming as motivation. We had folks coming and wanted to see us win during homecoming."

Turner said he's hoping for a fourth consecutive victory to build momentum for next year. He also said a four-game string of victories and a .500 season would make it easier to recruit for the next season.

"Let's hope we can pull this one out," he said. "I really feel like then we wouldn't have any problems getting players out. Right now a lot of people just watch the first year. But a .500 season and four straight wins, it could build some momentum and keep going straight through the spring and to next season."

"I'm very proud of the parents' support. If you have a lot of people around you who think positive, positive things are gonna happen."

This week, the Devils end their season in Santaluces. Their hopes for a .500 season rest with their chances of victory.

"They're gonna be tough," said Turner of Santaluces. "It's not gonna be a toe-up game. We wanna beat them in the first quarter."

He said if the Blue Devils can contain the Santaluces quarterback and tailback, they can probably shut down the opponent's offense.

DEADLINE THIS WEEK MONDAY 5 p.m.

THE GATORS flew to an easy 28-0 victory over Moore Haven last Friday, as demonstrated by this aqtor in the school's homecoming parade. The victory also clinched a second consecutive district title for the reigning class A champions.

Gators win district again

By MIKE UNDERWOOD
BELLE GLADE - The Glades Day School Gators won their second consecutive district 7A title Friday when they shutout the Moore Haven Terriers 28-0.

It was the third district opponent the Gators have held scoreless this year, a feat Gator Coach Byron Walker, Jr. pointed to with pride. The victory gives the reigning class A state champions a trip to post-season play for the sixth time in the football program's 11-year history.

The Terriers fell to the Gators by same score, 28-0, in 1982. The Gators have held six straight district opponents scoreless dating back to last year's 30-0 victory over Benjamin.

Moore Haven took the opening kickoff and marched 54 yards on 13 plays to the 23 yard line. Mark Holder put the ball in the air and Brian Lohmann intercepted it to stifle the drive.

Lohmann, playing quarterback for the offense, used 10 plays to march downfield for the first touchdown.

Lohmann took the ball over himself, sweeping around the right end at the 16 yard line.

Mike Schlechter put the ball between the uprights for the extra-point and the Gators had a 7-0 lead.

The Terriers didn't quit. They took the kickoff and marched to the Gator 13 before Bayon Abraham blocked a 37 yard field goal attempt. Workhorse Philip Echols took over the show from that point.

He carried the ball over from four yards out in the second quarter and Schlechter hit the extra-point to give the Gators a 14-0 lead at the half. In the third period, Echols scored on a one yard run and Schlechter again hit the extra point.

Echols finished the game with 203 yards rushing in 18 carries and two touchdowns. The game put him over 1,000 yards in the season.

In the fourth period, Jose Perez went over the left side from the four yard line to give the Gators a 28-0 lead.

"I was very impressed with our offensive team, particularly the front four," said Walker. "The offense had the ball six times and scored four. And were inside the five when the ball game ended."

"The defense didn't give up a point to any district team this year. I'm proud of that."

That streak of district shutouts actually stretches to 1982. That year, the Gators shutout Benjamin 3-0 and Moore Haven 28-0.

This year, the Gators beat Cardinal Newman 49-0, King's Academy 56-0 and also shutout Benjamin before downing Moore Haven 28-0.

Now Walker is turning his attention to Melbourne, the Gators last opponent.

"We want the win for momentum going into the playoffs," said Walker, who used to live in Melbourne and has personal reasons for wanting a victory there. "It's like a second home to me."

He said the Melbourne team plays a wishbone offense that will give the Gator defense good experience going into the playoffs.

The first district game will be played November 25 on Gator Field in Belle Glade.

Bazaar is Sat.

BELLE GLADE - The Lake Harbor Methodist Church bazaar will have a new item on the menu this Saturday, with the addition of two wild hogs for barbeque.

According to bazaar worker Molly Norman, Lake Harbor resident Bo Austin shot the two hogs Monday morning as they were wandering around. He has butchered the hogs and donated the meat for the bazaar.

Norman said she believes the animals both weigh about 200 pounds each.

The Christmas bazaar is the fourth annual and according to worker Martha Lynn Weeks, the bazaar is the church's main money making event.

money raised from the bazaar will be used to help pay for the new Sunday School building. The old Sunday School building interior was gutted in a fire last year.

The bazaar will start at 8:30 a.m. in Jameson Hall at the Community United Methodist Church in Belle Glade.

Some of the items for sale will include Christmas decorations, gifts, holiday food items and handcrafted items.

In addition to the barbequed pork, Norman said the bazaar will feature 10-bean, vegetable or chicken soup and chili, all frozen. Other food items will include pies and cakes and gift boxes of assorted jellies.

Lewd act charge levied

BELLE GLADE - A Mariel refugee is facing a charge of committing a lewd and lascivious act in the presence of a child under 14 years of age in connection with a Sunday afternoon incident.

According to Belle Glade Police Detective Jack R. Fulenwider, Leonel Gonzales, 44, apparently called an 11-year old girl to his car, which parked outside the Foam Towne Laundry at 217 Southeast First Street at about 12:45 p.m. Gonzales was apparently sitting in the vehicle with his pants pulled down.

The youth went back to the laundry and called her mother and a friend to the scene.

Gonzales, seeing the group approach, supposedly said "No problem... no problem," and drove off.

The automobile was spotted by Belle Glade police on Browns Farm Road at about 1:45 p.m. and officers from the Glades substation of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department assisted in apprehending Gonzales.

Gonzales told the police he had been at the laundry but hadn't committed any lewd and lascivious acts in front of the youth.

Crusaders close season with win

By ANA HERNANDEZ
BELLE GLADE - The Christian Day School Crusaders avoided a winless 1983 season last Saturday when they beat Freedom Christian Academy from Miami 33-0 for their first and only victory of the year.

The Crusaders got on the board with 4:07 left in the first period when David Chamblee crossed from the two yard line.

The Crusaders added two more touchdowns in the second quarter when Henry Ruiz went over the right side with 4:34 left in the half.

Mirto Vigas ran the ball in for the two point conversion.

With 23 seconds left in the half, Chamblee connected with James Barnwell on a 13 yard touchdown pass to put the Crusaders up 20-0.

In the fourth quarter, Vigas added two touchdowns to the Crusader effort, crossing the goal line with one-yard and 11-yard runs.

Barnwell added an extra-point on the fourth touchdown to give the Crusaders a 33-0 shutout victory to close the season.

"The coaching staff is pleased with the way the boys performed and it's looking forward to spring practice and the coming year," said Athletic Director David Daily.

The Crusaders closed their season at 1-8.

Sanitation suit delayed

PAHOKEE - Some things just drag on and on. Then others just never get started at all. Take the Pahokee Housing Authority's suit with South Florida Sanitation over who gets to collect the authority's garbage.

The authority's board of commissioners, disgusted at a rate increase by South Florida Sanitation about two years ago, decided to buy a garbage truck and start collecting its own garbage.

South Florida Sanitation decided that was against its franchise agreement with the county and filed suit.

The authority filed a counter claim charging that certain services weren't delivered by the garbage collecting firm.

A court date was scheduled for the case this summer, but about a week before the case was to be heard, it was transferred to another job.

That delayed the cases hearing until last month. Then, with a day to go before both sides aired their cases before the judge, word was received that the case was once again delayed because the judge was out of town, according to PHA Attorney Michael Stauder.

"That's not unusual," said Stauder. "It happens all the time."

Authority will pick up benefit fees

PAHOKEE - The Pahokee Housing Authority will be picking up the maximum amount allowed by the Department of Housing and Urban Development for its employees health insurance starting December 1.

The PHA board of commissioners decided November 15 to increase the authority's contribution to 100 percent of the single employee's insurance and 60 percent of the dependent's coverage.

That is maximum amount allowed by HUD.

The commissioners had been considering the increase in its contribution for several months as an attempt to give the employees added benefits in the wake of HUD wage restrictions.

"I figure if we got good employees and keep them healthy and happy, we're gonna have better employees," said Commissioner Frank Gillis.

Mobile home park plans approved by city

BELLE GLADE — Development of a 35-unit mobile home park is expected to start in the near future in Belle Glade.

The Belle Glade city commission Monday, November 14, gave its approval to the preliminary and final plans submitted by the developer for the proposed park on state road 715.

The commissioners also approved $33,630 as its share in the expense of the sewer system hook-ups for the project.

According to City Manager W.E. "Tom"

Strang, the city had agreed under former city manager Rolfe Wagner to pick up half of the costs of the sewer system hook-ups.

The city's share was originally $31,130, but that figure was reduced by $3,500 through cost cuts. A force main connection added $12,000 to the total cost, or another $6,000 to the city's share.

City Planning Director Remar M. Harvin told the commissioners that previous problems with drainage in certain parts of the proposed trailer park area have been resolved.

"We've gone out and looked at the site and we are generally pleased with what we see," said Harvin.

GLADERS WERE EVERYWHERE in the last Friday. Several floats featured various Glades Day School homecoming parade floats of the school's mascot.

Third annual rodeo is set for Nov. 19-20

The Third Annual Hendry County Rodeo is slated for 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 19-20, at the Hendry County Fairgrounds, Clewiston.

Texas Bill Thorpe said he expects 350 to 400 cowboys to take part in this year's rodeo, which will be the last of its kind before the professional rodeo finals are held in Oklahoma.

The field is expected to be so large this year that a cowboy church service will be held at the fairgrounds Sunday so that competition can resume early, said Thorpe. The public is invited to the services, he said.

Thorpe, a rodeo clown for 16 years who was twice voted Central States Rodeo Association clown of the year, has been visiting local schools this week and plans to ride in the Jewett homecoming parade Friday, on his 1,900 pound bull, Cajun.

Local contestants will be joining the rodeo pros to demonstrate their cowboy skills in bull riding, bare back riding, saddle bronc, calf roping, girls barrel racing, bulldogging (steer wrestling), and team roping. Cash prizes will be awarded to winners.

Youngsters will be invited to try their skill on a bucking pony, named "Dynamite." Youngsters can be a rodeo clown for a day and have their face painted by a rodeo artist.

In addition, the 4-H Golden Bits Horse Club square dancers will perform at the rodeo, immediately following the grand entry, said Pro Steadman.

Horse Club members will continue to practice every Sunday at 3 p.m. at the fairgrounds until the rodeo. Tickets are now on sale. Prices are $5 per day for adults and $2 per day for children under 12, said Beverly Smith.

Ticket locations include:
—Clewiston: Al Fuller Field and Stream, Clewiston Gulf, Corbin Farm and Ranch Supply, Fry Hardware, Easy Life Mobile Homes, and R. S. Ranch Supply.

—South Bay: Glades Honda.

—Belle Glade: Holiday Inn. The rodeo is an International Rodeo Association sponsored event.

"Bob Ballard and the Country Outlaws" from Naples will be performing both Saturday and Sunday at the rodeo and at the rodeo dance Saturday

The dance will be held in the exhibit building at the fairgrounds from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday and is a B.Y.O.B. affair. Setups will be available. Admission is $5 per person.

Carlson's A Pinch of Salt

President Ronald Reagan has proclaimed 1983 as The Year of the Bible. In his proclamation he reminds Americans of the mighty influence for good the Bible has had on our nation. He also encourages all to read and appreciate the message of this ancient book.

Most Americans have a Bible. In fact, a survey by the Christian Bible Society indicates that 98 percent of all homes in this country have at least one Bible. But the sad fact is that most Americans, who have the wonderful privilege of religious freedom, don't read the Bible.

The Bible has tremendous power to change lives, and it starts by revealing what is really in our hearts. "For whatever God says to us is full deep into our innermost thoughts and desires with all their parts, exposing us for what we really are." Hebrews 4:12 (Living Bible)

A tribal chief in the New Hebrides Islands sat peacefully reading his Bible when he was interrupted by a French trader. "Bah," the trader said, "why are you reading the Bible? I suppose the missionaries have got hold of you, you poor fool. Throw it away! The Bible never did anyone any good."

The chief calmly replied, "If it weren't for this Bible, you'd already be in my kettle over there!"

Let the Word of God change your life, so that even your family will see the difference. And take your Bible with you to church this Sunday, it's Bible Sunday.

Let the Word of God change your life, so that even your family will see the difference. And take your Bible with you to church this Sunday, it's Bible Sunday.
